HOLISTIC EXPERIENCE

The Maya Ubud Resort and Spa in Bali, a tranquil riverside sanctuary on the edge of the main 'town' of Ubud famous for its paddy fields and artisan craftworks, was recently named 15th among the Top 25 Hotels in Indonesia by TripAdvisor Travelers' Choice Awards 2015. Undoubtedly, its many attractive features, including its traditional-inspired architecture, close-to-nature landscaping, holistic spa menu and, of course, excellent amenities and service play a role in this recognition. Four food and beverage outlets serving local favourites and international cuisine, including nightly themed dinners, would whet any gastronomy cravings. Burn off the extra calories by participating in free or paid activities such as yoga for beginners, taichi, pilates, nature walk, meditation sessions, trekking tours, personalised fitness training and Balinese dance lessons on the resort grounds. Even a casual walk through the beautifully landscaped grounds would suffice for exercise, with paths taking you past the grand carved entrances of the exclusive villas, down to the spa and riverside café with the resort's second pool situated right next to the Petanu river. A stay at the Maya Ubud would leave guests refreshed and rejuvenated thanks to the holistic lifestyle cleverly incorporated into the resort's everyday undertakings. INNER-CITY LIVING

The design of the Loke Thye Kee Residences, comprising five luxuriously appointed suites contained within a row of restored century-old shophouses along Penang Road in the heart of George Town in Penang, reflects the spirit of a bygone era but with a contemporary look. Each suite is precluded by a lush garden forecourt and a private balcony amidst the traditional shophouse courtyard and alleyway. The intimate boutique lodging is part of the Loke Thye Kee Heritage Village, which also houses a classic Hainanese-Chinese restaurant dating back to 1919, a traditional café, tea spa, rooftop grill and bar, art gallery, and heritage centre.
